Domesticating Neo-Liberalism Alison Stenning, Adrian Smith, Alena Rochovská, Dariusz Świątek, 2010-08-23 Based on in depth research in Poland and Slovakia Domesticating Neo Liberalism addresses how we understand the processes of neo liberalization in post socialist cities Builds upon a vast amount of new research data Examines how households try to sustain their livelihoods at particularly dramatic and difficult times of urban transformation Provides a major contribution to how we theorize the geographies of neo liberalism Offers a conclusion which informs discussions of social policy within European Union enlargement

Chasing Warsaw Monika Grubbauer, Joanna Kusiak, 2012-10 Warsaw is one of the most dynamically developing cities in Europe and its rich history has marked it as an epicenter of many modes of urbanism Tzarist modernist socialist and in the past two decades aggressively neoliberal Focusing on Warsaw after 1990 this volume explores the interplay between Warsaw s past urban identities and the intense urban change of the 90s and 00s Chasing Warsaw departs from the typical narratives of post socialist cities in Eastern Europe by contextualizing Warsaw s unique transformation in terms of both global change and the shifting geographies of centrality and marginality in contemporary Poland

Understanding Geographies of Polarization and Peripheralization Thilo Lang, Sebastian Henn, Kornelia Ehrlich, Wladimir Sgibnev, 2015-08-31 This book presents a multifaceted perspective on regional development and corresponding processes of adaptation and response focusing on the concepts of polarization and peripheralization It discusses theoretical and empirical foundations and presents several compelling case studies from Central and Eastern Europe and beyond

The Informal Economy in Global Perspective Abel Polese, Colin C. Williams, Ioana A. Horodnic, Predrag Bejakovic, 2017-04-18 This book critically engages with how formal and informal mechanisms of governance are used across the world Specifically it analyzes how the governance mechanisms of formal institutions are questioned challenged and renegotiated through informal institutions Whilst there is an emerging body of scholarship focusing on informal practices this is scattered across a number of disciplines This edited collection by contrast fosters a dialogue on these issues moving away from monodisciplinary and normative methodologies that view informal institutions and practices simply as temporary economic phenomena In doing so the authors provide a wider understanding of how governance is composed of both the formal and the informal which complement each other but are also constantly in competition This novel approach will appeal to social scientists economists policy makers practitioners and anyone else willing to widen their understanding of how governance works      Diverse Spaces of Childhood and Youth Ruth Evans, Louise Holt, 2016-04-08 Diverse Spaces of Childhood and Youth focuses on the diverse spaces and discourses of children and youth globally. The chapters explore the influence of gender, age and other socio-cultural differences such as race, ethnicity and migration trajectories on the everyday lives of children and youth in a range of international contexts. These include the diverse urban environments of Istanbul, Copenhagen, Helsinki, Toronto, London and Bratislava and the contrasting rural settings of Ghana and England. The analyses of children's, young people's, parents' and professionals' experiences and discourses provide critical insights into how gender and other socio-cultural differences intersect. The importance of everyday practices and performances in the formation of children's and young people's identities is revealed through, for example, friendships and everyday sociality, mobilities and movements across space in both rural and urban environments. The volume shows how discourses of childhood, particularly those associated with risk, intersect with difference. The recognition of young people's agency and participation is central to many of the chapters, whilst also raising methodological questions about how discourses of childhood and youth are researched. Overall, the book provides an original contribution to geographies of children, youth and families and research on diversity and difference in global contexts. This book was published as a special issue of Children's Geographies.

Politics of waiting Liene Ozolina, 2019-04-02 This book is an ethnography of politics of waiting. While the global political economy is usually imagined through metaphors of acceleration and speed, this book reveals waiting as the shadow temporality of the contemporary logics of governance. The ethnographic site for this analysis is a state-run unemployment office in Latvia, serving as a vantage point from which to observe how welfare programmes use acceleration and waiting as forms of control, as well as to compare Western and post-Soviet welfare policy designs. The book is therefore a timely sociological critique of the forms of statecraft that have emerged in the aftermath of neoliberalism. The key audiences for this book are students and scholars of sociology, anthropology, social policy and social and political theory, as well as policymakers and activists with an interest in welfare reforms and comparisons between Western and post-Soviet welfare designs.

Fields of Glass Adrian Smith, 2025-05-31 What is the relationship between technology and labour regimes in agrifood value chains? By deploying the concept of agrarian biopolitical articulations, Field of Glass formulates new perspectives that bridge the hitherto distinct worlds of value chain research, agrarian political economy, labour regime theory and agrarian techno-science to explain the enduring insecurity of food systems in the United Kingdom. Using both historical and contemporary research, Adrian Smith explores how the precarity and exploitation of migrant labour intersects with ecology and techno-science innovation, such as hydroponic and robotic technologies, to explain the development and changing nature of glasshouse agrifood value chains in the UK. Smith concludes by reflecting on how agrarian bio-politics have shaped the glasshouse agrifood sector and the emergence of contemporary high road and low road strategies, highlighting their contradictions and negative consequences for local development and food supply security

Neoliberalism, Personhood, and Postsocialism Nicolette Makovicky, 2016-04-22 Despite a growing literature debating the consequences of neo liberal political and economic policy in the former Eastern bloc the idea of neo liberal personhood has so far received limited attention from scholars of the region Presenting a range of ethnographic studies this book lays the groundwork for a new disciplinary agenda by critically examining novel technologies of self government which have appeared in the wake of political and economic liberalization Neoliberalism Personhood and Postsocialism explores the formation of subjectivities in newly marketized or marketizing societies across the former Eastern Bloc documenting the rise of the neo liberal discourse of the enterprising self in government policy corporate management and education as well as examining the shifts in forms of capital amongst marginal capitalists and entrepreneurs working in the grey zone between the formal and informal economies A rich investigation of the tools of neo liberal governance and the responses of entrepreneurs and families in changing societies this book reveals the full complexity of the relationship between historically and socially embedded economic practices and the increasing influence of libertarian political and economic thought on public policy institutional reform and civil society initiatives As such it will appeal to anthropologists sociologists and geographers with interests in political discourse identity entrepreneurship and organizations in post socialist societies

Spaces of Neoliberalism Neil Brenner, Nik Theodore, 2003-01-31 This is the first volume to analyse systematically the role of neoliberalism in contemporary processes of urban restructuring Includes contributions from leading scholars in the fields of critical urban studies radical geography and state theory Analyses the role of neoliberalism in contemporary processes of urban restructuring Synthesises a variety of new theoretical approaches to key issues in contemporary urban studies Incorporates new case study material of ongoing urban transformations in the USA Canada the UK and other Western European countries

The Financialisation of Social Reproduction in the Age of Neoliberalism: From Theory to Case Studies Ben Fine, 2024-12-02 Drawing upon comprehensive research across five countries including case studies of housing water and health comprehensive theoretical and empirical accounts are offered of the impact of financialisation on economic and social reproduction alongside the corresponding material cultures of neoliberalism Economic is understood as embedded within social reproduction with neoliberalism as the current stage of capitalism fundamentally underpinned by but not reducible to the financialisation of everyday life Considerable emphasis is placed upon the variegated outcomes attached to the neoliberalisation of social reproduction as highlighted by the comparative study of economic and social provisioning across different countries and sectors

Paradoxes of Neoliberalism Elizabeth Bernstein, Janet R Jakobsen, 2021-12-24 From the rise of far right regimes to the tumult of the COVID 19 pandemic recent years have brought global upheaval as well as the sedimentation of longstanding social inequalities Analyzing the complexities of the current political moment in different geographic regions this book addresses the paradoxical persistence of neoliberal policies and practices in order to ground the pursuit of a more just world Engaging theories of decoloniality racial capitalism queer materialism and social reproduction this book demonstrates the centrality of sexual politics to neoliberalism including both social relations and statecraft Drawing on ethnographic case studies the authors show that gender and sexuality may be the site for policies like those pertaining to sex trafficking which bundle together economics and changes to the structure of the state In other instances sexual politics are crucial components of policies on issues ranging from the growth of financial services to migration Tracing the role of sexual politics across different localities and through different political domains this book delineates the paradoxical assemblage that makes up contemporary neoliberal hegemony In addition to exploring contemporary social relations of neoliberal governance exploitation domination and exclusion the authors also consider gender and sexuality as forces that have shaped myriad forms of community based activism and resistance including local efforts to pursue new forms of social change By tracing neoliberal paradoxes across global sites the book delineates the multiple dimensions of economic and cultural restructuring that have characterized neoliberal regimes and emergent activist responses to them This innovative analysis of the relationship between gender justice and political economy will appeal to interdisciplinary scholars in social and cultural studies legal and political theorists and the wide range of readers who are concerned with contemporary questions of social justice

Markets and Development Toby Carroll,Darryl Jarvis,2017-10-02 Markets and Development presents a series of critical contributions focused on the political relationship between citizens civil society and neoliberal development policy s latest form The dramatic increase of access to finance investments newly gender sensitive approaches to building neoliberal labour markets the universal promotion of public private partnerships and the development financing of extractive industries have all seen citizens social movements and NGOs variously engaged in and against neoliberalism like never before The precise form that this engagement takes is conditioned by both the perceived and real opportunities and the risks of an agenda which seeks to intern emerging and frontier markets deep within a concretising world market with transformative repercussions for both those involved and notably for state society relations The contributors to this volume focus on essential aspects of the contemporary neoliberal development agenda and its relationship to and with citizens and civil society tackling questions related to the roles that various actors within civil society in the underdeveloped world are playing under late capitalism and how these roles relate to current efforts to establish and extend markets and market society more broadly in a neoliberal image This book was originally published as a special issue of Globalizations

Neo-liberalism and the Architecture of the Post Professional Era Hossein Sadri,2018-04-27 This book discusses the effects of Neo Liberal policies on the transformations of architectural and urban practices and education in the transition from the era of professionalism to post professionalism Building on previous literature in the field of contemporary theory of architecture it provides the necessary resources for the study of contemporary architecture and urban politics urban sociology local administration and urban geography Further it develops a political and critical perspective on contemporary practices of architecture and urbanism their implementation legal background political effects and social results The book will interest readers from a wide range of academic disciplines from political science to architecture and from urban studies to sociology

The Urban Political Theresa Enright,Ugo Rossi,2017-11-01 This book examines the political and economic trajectories of cities following the 2008 financial crisis The authors claim that in this era which they dub late neoliberalism urban spaces institutions subjectivities and organizational forms are undergoing processes of radical transformation and recomposition The volume deftly argues that the urban political horizon of late neoliberalism is ambivalent marked by many progressive mobilizations for equality and justice but also by regressive forces of austerity exploitation and domination "Not the Horse We Wanted!" C. M. Hann,2006 The title of this volume was supplied by a Hungarian villager who made use of a popular idiom to express his disillusionment with the results of rural privatisation Chris Hann draws on his own ethnographic materials from Hungary and elsewhere to explore a wide range of topics from political economy to questions of ethnic and religious identity and minority rights Applying a broad definition of property relations he argues that private ownership multi party politics and the proliferation of NGOs are poor compensation for a decline in the substantive material and moral conditions of citizenship Underlying all the chapters is an inclusive eclectic approach to contemporary anthropology Hann concludes by arguing that anthropologists of all traditions and theoretical persuasions need to renew their engagement with world history To recognise the enduring unity of Eurasia is an important step towards overcoming the distortions of Eurocentrism

BOOK JACKET Contradictions of Neoliberal Planning Tuna Tasan-Kok,Guy Baeten,2011-09-27 This book argues that the concepts of neoliberalism and neoliberalisation while in common use across the whole range of social sciences have thus far been generally overlooked in planning theory and the analysis of planning practice Offering insights from papers presented during a conference session at a meeting of the Association of American Geographers in Boston in 2008 and a number of commissioned chapters this book fills this significant hiatus in the study of planning What the case studies from Africa Asia North America and Europe included in this volume have in common is that they all reveal the uneasy cohabitation of planning some kind of state intervention for the betterment of our built and natural environment and neoliberalism a belief in the superiority of market mechanisms to organize land use and the inferiority of its opposite state intervention Planning if anything may be seen as being in direct contrast to neoliberalism as something that should be rolled back or even annihilated through neoliberal practice To combine neoliberal and planning in one phrase then seems awkward at best and an outright oxymoron at worst To admit to the very existence or epistemological possibility of neoliberal planning may appear to be a total surrender of state planning to market superiority or in other words the simple acceptance that the management of buildings transport infrastructure parks conservation areas etc beyond the profit principle has reached its limits in the 21st century Planning in this case would be reduced to a mere facilitator of market forces in the city be it gentle or authoritarian Yet in spite of these contradictions and outright impossibilities planners operate within contribute to resist or temper an increasingly neoliberal mode of producing spaces and places or the revival of profit driven changes in land use It is this contradiction between the serving of private profit seeking interests while actually seeking the public betterment of cities that this volume has sought to describe explore analyze and make sense of through a set of case studies covering a wide range of planning issues in various countries This book lays bare just how spatial planning functions in an age of market triumphalism how planners respond to the overruling profit principle in land allocation and what is left of non profit driven developments
