The Cinematic Enfant Terrible Karolina Westling, 2025-06-26 The Cinematic Enfant Terrible is a groundbreaking study of rule breakers in French cinema The book approaches the concept of the enfant terrible in the literal sense of the term young people labelled terrible awful by the adult generation It explores a rich cinematic tradition from Jean Vigo's Zéro de conduite 1933 and François Truffaut's Les quatre cents coups 1959 to Catherine Breillat's 36 fillette 1988 and Ladj Ly's Les Misérables 2019 The book encompasses the cinematic enfants terribles across age groups and genders addressing the differences between unruly boys and rebellious teenage girls The early post war focus on juvenile delinquency and sexual provocations diversifies into filles fatales and angry girls but also precarious boys and parents terribles The book charts the evolution of the enfant terrible concept from a negative label to a sympathetically viewed figure of anti authoritarian resistance reflecting the changing position of children within the family in post war France The films address the ethical paradox of democratic upbringing the dilemma of raising children to become obedient individuals with a mind of their own The asymmetrical relationship between children and parents is seen as a tacit family contract that highlights the importance of an intergenerational perspective for the understanding of generational conflicts Rebellious children and teenagers on screen are seen in the light of wider social transformations The book clarifies the interplay between individual protests and cultural currents such as existentialism feminism and ethnic conflicts This book will be of interest to scholars and students of French culture and cinema childhood and youth studies gender studies and cultural studies

Animals and the Right to Politics Sue Donaldson, Will Kymlicka, 2025-11-14 The assumption that only humans can engage in politics that only humans are zoon politikon is foundational to the Western tradition of political philosophy While there is increasing recognition of animals moral status both within moral philosophy and at the level of public opinion animals are not recognized as political subjects This carefully researched but accessibly written volume following on from the authors earlier book Zoopolis argues that animals too have a right to politics a right to be recognized as political subjects and agents and as members of political communities entitled to collective self determination The book draws on recent scientific work on animal societies cultures and decision making as well as recent work by political theorists rethinking ideas of agency and community especially the significance of emplaced and embodied encounters and relationships to the activity of politics Sue Donaldson and Will Kymlicka draw a picture of what it would mean to create spaces and practices not only for politics conducted by humans on behalf of animals but also politics with and by animals on their own terms It then explores how this approach could inform a wide range of contemporary debates in human animal relations including wildlife conservation urban planning and animal labour
