Stephens, 2008 Achieving Excellence Educating The Gifted and Talented provides foundational information relating to the field of gifted education i e history laws etc details characteristics of gifted students from various populations describes how such students are identified and assessed and presents up to date research based pedagogy relating to curriculum design and instruction It draws upon experts in the field to present content in a practical way so that it is applicable to pre service and classroom teachers Chapter summaries and questions for thought and reflection are included at the end of each chapter to help guide classroom discussion In addition each chapter provides a listing of useful resources that enables the reader to extend their learning on a particular topic or issue Excellence in Educating Gifted and Talented Learners Joyce VanTassel-Baska, 1998 Contains ideas for effective curriculum and instruction of talented learners This title covers personality learners with disabilities learning styles and also stages of giftedness from infancy all the way to adulthood Special attention is given to mathematics science social studies and the humanities

Excellence in Educating Gifted & Talented Learners Joyce VanTassel-Baska, Camilla Persson Benbow, 2007 Excellence and Equality David M. Fetterman, 1988-07-08 Fetterman focuses on what actually works in gifted and talented education programs Complementing the psychological perspective on gifted and talented education he adopts an anthropological point of view using methods such as lengthy interviews with students teachers parents administrators and others involved in the school programs daily observation and group discussions to elicit the insider s perspective A ground breaking work Fetterman s timely study provides a comparative picture of over 433 gifted and talented programs in the United States as well as programs in other countries The author s cross cultural perspective points up the need for U S educators to shake themselves out of a national complacency about the gifted and talented and stresses the importance of comparing our own efforts with those of other nations In the process Fetterman proposes a model for educational excellence in terms of the mainstream U S educational system The book will provide new insights for educators and policymakers working in our educational system as they strive to meet the needs of gifted and talented students Excellence Gaps in Education Jonathan A. Plucker, Scott J. Peters, 2020-01-15 2017 Texas Association for Gifted and Talented Legacy Scholar Book Award 2017 National Association of Gifted Children Scholar Book of the Year Award In Excellence Gaps in Education Jonathan A Plucker and Scott J Peters shine a spotlight on excellence gaps the achievement gaps among subgroups of students performing at the highest levels of achievement Much of the focus of recent education reform has been on closing gaps in achievement between students from different racial ethnic or socioeconomic backgrounds by bringing all students up to minimum levels of proficiency Yet issues related to excellence gaps have been largely absent from discussions about how to improve our schools and communities Plucker and Peters argue that these significant gaps reflect the existence of a persistent talent underclass in the United States among African American Hispanic Native American and poor students resulting in an incalculable loss of potential among our fastest growing populations Drawing on the latest research and a wide range of national and international data the authors outline the scope of the problem and make the case that excellence gaps should be targeted for elimination They identify promising interventions for talent development already underway in schools and provide a detailed review of potential strategies including universal screening flexible grouping targeted programs and psychosocial interventions Excellence Gaps in Education has the potential for changing our national conversation about equity and excellence and bringing fresh attention to the needs of high potential students from underrepresented backgrounds
