COVID-19 and Existential Positive Psychology (PP2.0): The New Science of Self-Transcendence Paul T. P. Wong, Claude-Hélène Mayer, Gökmen Arslan, In the era of COVID 19 many people have suffered high levels of stress and mental health problems. To cope with the widespread of suffering, physical, psychological, social and economical, the positive psychology of personal happiness is no longer the sole approach to examine personal wellbeing. Other approaches such as Viktor Frankl's theory of self-transcendence provide a promising framework for research and intervention on how to achieve resilience, wellbeing and happiness through overcoming suffering and self-transcendence. The existential positive psychology of suffering complements the positive psychology of happiness which is championed by Martin Seligman as two equal halves of the circle of wellbeing and optimal mental health. This Research Topic aims to examine the different approaches to Positive Psychology and their influence on individual wellbeing during the COVID 19 era. One of the exciting developments in the positive psychology of wellbeing is the mounting research on the adaptive benefits of negative emotions such as shame, guilt and anger as well as the dialectical process of balancing negative and positive emotions. As an example based on all the empirical research and Frankl's self-transcendence model, Wong has developed the existential positive psychology of suffering, PP2.0 as the foundation for flourishing. Here are a few main tenets of PP2.0: 1. Life is suffering and a constant struggle throughout every stage of development. 2. The search for self-transcendence is a primary motive guided by the meaning mindset and mindful mindset. 3. Wellbeing cannot be sustainable without overcoming and transforming suffering. In this Research Topic we welcome diverse approaches discussing the following points: The dialectic process of overcoming the challenges of every stage of development as necessary for personal growth and self-transcendence. The role of self-transcendence in resilience, virtue, meaning and happiness. The upside of negative emotions. The new science of resilience based on cultivating the resilient mindset and character. How to make the best use of suffering to achieve our potentials, mental health.

Civic Freedom in an Age of Diversity Dimitrios Karmis, Jocelyn Maclure, 2023-02-15 James Tully is one of the world's most influential political philosophers at work today. Over the past thirty years, first with Strange Multiplicity (1995) and more fully with Public Philosophy in a New Key (2008) and On Global Citizenship (2014), Tully has developed a distinctive approach to the study of political philosophy, democracy and active citizenship for a deeply diverse world and a de-imperializing age. Civic Freedom in an Age of Diversity explores, elucidates and questions Tully's innovative approach, methods and concepts, providing both a critical assessment of Tully's public philosophy and an exemplification of the dialogues of reciprocal elucidation that are central to Tully's approach. Since the role of public philosophy is to address public affairs, the contributors consider public philosophy in the context of pressing issues and recent civic struggles such as crises of democracy and citizenship in the Western world global citizenship civil disobedience and non violence Indigenous self determination nationalism and federalism in multinational states protest movements in Turkey and Quebec supranational belonging in the European Union struggles over equity in academia and environmental decontamination decolonization and cultural restoration in Akwesasne Offering a wide ranging analytical discussion of Tully s work by leading scholars from various fields of study with an extensive reply by Tully himself Civic Freedom in an Age of Diversity provides a rich perspective on the full extent of his contribution
