 Drawing on little known sources Marina Svensson argues that the concept of human rights was invoked by the Chinese people well before the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in 1948 and it has continued to have strong appeal after 1949 both in Taiwan and on the mainland These largely forgotten debates provide important perspectives on and contrasts to the official PRC line The author gives particular attention to the issues of power and agency in describing the widely divergent views of official spokespersons establishment intellectuals and dissidents Until recently the PRC dismissed human rights as a bourgeois slogan yet the globalization of human rights and the growing importance of the issue in bilateral and multilateral relations has grown Thus the regime has been forced to embrace or rather appropriate the language of human rights an appropriation that continues to be vigorously challenged by dissidents at home and abroad Monthly Bulletin of the Educational Association of China ,1907 Feminist Collections ,2005 Standard Catalog for Public Libraries H.W.
