Teaching Literature to Adolescents Richard Beach, Deborah Appleman, Bob Fecho, Rob Simon, 2016-03-10 This popular textbook introduces prospective and practicing English teachers to current methods of teaching literature in middle and high school classrooms It underscores the value of providing students with a range of different critical approaches and tools for interpreting texts and the need to organize literature instruction around topics and issues of interest to them Throughout the textbook readers are encouraged to raise and explore inquiry based questions in response to authentic dilemmas and issues they face in the critical literature classroom New in this edition the text shows how these approaches to fostering responses to literature also work as rich tools to address the Common Core English Language Arts Standards Each chapter is organized around specific questions that English educators often hear in working with pre service teachers Suggested pedagogical methods are modelled by inviting readers to interact with the book through critical inquiry methods for responding to texts Readers are engaged in considering authentic dilemmas and issues facing literature teachers through inquiry based responses to authentic case narratives A Companion Website <http://teachingliterature.pbworks.com> provides resources and enrichment activities inviting teachers to consider important issues in the context of their current or future classrooms

Celluloid Blackboard Alan S. Marcus, 2006-10-01 This volume advocates for including feature films in secondary history classrooms through examining the ways in which films can promote students historical understanding while also addressing the potential drawbacks to using film In part one the essays explore three frameworks for the analysis of film by secondary students Part two fills a void in the scholarship reporting on four recent studies that explore how the use of film may encourage the development of students historical understanding Finally part three describes the results from two secondary teachers incorporating film into their history classrooms
