Leonard C. Burrello, Carl Lashley, Edith E. Beatty, 2001 A convincing conceptualization of schools as complex adaptive systems The authors recommendations that leaders must tinker at the margins and lead in the zone of complexity provide sound and practical advice for school leaders faced with creating unified educational systems that will be able to effectively support students with increasingly diverse learning needs David W Peterson Superintendent Northern Suburban Special Education District Highland Park IL Far too long we have failed to acknowledge the large number of students relegated to parallel educational systems This thought provoking book provides an important first step in helping us surface the mental models we hold of the teaching and learning of diverse student populations Nelda Cambron McCabe Department of Educational Leadership Miami University Oxford OH An insightful informative and thought provoking book that deals with a topic that concerns every educator Kate Kinley Director of Administrative Training and Staff Development Clark County School District NV Learn to create unified learner centered schools where all students learn By focusing on student learning as the central goal of school administrators Burrello Lashley and Beatty establish a plan for creating a truly integrated educational system one that unifies the separate and parallel systems of special and general education The authors call for an end to the piecemeal strategy of including students one classroom one grade level or one school at a time Instead they demonstrate how administrators school leaders and the community must work together on decisions to implement personalized education plans accountable curricular outcomes and appropriate instructional adaptations Some of the key concepts include Schools embracing special services personnel The roles of the community and other stakeholders Reconceptualizing schools based on learner centered principles Program evaluation and incentives Brain and holographic design as a framework for complex adaptive systems Collaboration between school administrators and teachers Adapting curriculum and instruction In this groundbreaking work of practical application Burrello Lashley and Beatty demonstrate effective leadership strategies that will enable administrators to better manage the cultural imperative of equity and excellence for all students They further support the plan for unified schools through case studies and a program evaluation of self study guide An essential resource for general and special educators parents and communities IJER Vol 8-N2
International Journal of Educational Reform, 1999-04-01 The mission of the International Journal of Educational Reform IJER is to keep readers up to date with worldwide developments in education reform by providing scholarly information and practical analysis from recognized international authorities As the only peer reviewed scholarly publication that combines authors voices without regard for the political affiliations perspectives or research methodologies IJER provides readers with a balanced view of all sides of the political and educational mainstream To this end IJER includes but is not limited to inquiry based and opinion pieces on developments in such areas as policy administration curriculum instruction law and research

IJER should thus be of interest to professional educators with decision making roles and policymakers at all levels turn since it provides a broad based conversation between and among policymakers practitioners and academicians about reform goals objectives and methods for success throughout the world Readers can call on IJER to learn from an international group of reform implementers by discovering what they can do that has actually worked IJER can also help readers to understand the pitfalls of current reforms in order to avoid making similar mistakes Finally it is the mission of IJER to help readers to learn about key issues in school reform from movers and shakers who help to study and shape the power base directing educational reform in the U S and the world

Strengths-Based Approaches to Educating All Learners with Disabilities Michael L. Wehmeyer, 2019-03-08 Michael Wehmeyer a leading scholar with over four decades of experience as a teacher teacher educator researcher and advocate provides a cogent but accessible account of the evolution of special education Offering a compelling vision of where the field should be headed in the next decade he notes how the digital revolution has made it possible for all learners to gain access to content and instruction This text focuses on the need to consider how young people with and without disabilities learn and the importance of creating personalizable education as strengths based approaches to disability move education away from diagnosis and remediation to schoolwide instruction for all students This book is not written as a criticism of traditional special education models but instead examines the big ideas for going beyond special education that can improve outcomes for learners with disabilities and prepare them for the 21st century world Book Features Provides a framework for reconceptualizing how students with disabilities are educated Content aligns with changing contexts and innovations in education including personalizable education and self determined learning Identifies current well established practices that can facilitate efforts to address 21st century learning needs for learners with disabilities Written in a conversational voice for a broad audience to stimulate consideration of future directions for special education
